NXC Imaging

Completed in 2020 in partnership with Mission Construction, Tanek designed a 9,400 SF office build-out for NXC Imaging as part of the redevelopment of the historic Keller Building in Northeast Minneapolis' Arts District. Tasked with supporting NXC's mission to save and improve lives through advanced medical imaging technology and best-in-class service, the space was crafted to reflect both the company's entrepreneurial spirit and its commitment to excellence.

Architecturally, the design celebrates the building's industrial character by preserving original wood ceilings, exposed steel beams, and trusses, while introducing modern elements like skylights and large new windows to flood the space with natural light. A spacious training room with garage doors and an open break area fosters collaboration, gathering, and client engagement—blending functionality with a dynamic, forward-thinking workplace environment that aligns with NXC's vision and culture.
