Zeus Jones.

Marketing and branding agency Zeus Jones and Tanek collaborated to design a new office building that reflects the company's inventive, culture-shaping approach to strategy, creativity, and design. Tanek's design prioritizes natural light, with expansive windows brightening both open areas and conference rooms. The space features a variety of flexible work settings, including open seating, comfortable couches, and private booths, allowing employees to choose the environment that best supports their workflow. This thoughtful mix of communal and focused workspaces ensures the office remains adaptable, creative, and human-centered—an ideal home for an agency dedicated to inventing the future through brands, products, and experiences that move culture forward.
